

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1890.

Judge Johnston stated before the Police Court, on Thursday, that the Work House in this city is in a most deplorable situation—in deed, a public nuisance. He discharged several prisoners, from the fact that the place was not fit for their healthy custody.

The Big Sandy has risen about ten feet, letting out a large lot of coal-boats.

There is now a lot of ice in the channel from Cincinnati to Louisville.

It was raining last night at ten o'clock.

The Western Express report short supplies of bags at the leading places. Packers seem unwilling to buy at the prices demanded by drovers and farmers, and the latter, sooner than accept loss, are holding back or shipping to the East.

Mr. Phelps, who was tried before the Mayor of Covington, for embezzlement and perjury, was several times noticed, has been discharged.

The Cincinnati Gazette says there was a slight panic in the hog market on Thursday, and packers concluded they would stop and think. Consequently prices declined.

Mr. Orr, of South Carolina, gave Humphrey Marshall the following reply the other day, in answer to his windy speech about the Democratic party and Squatter Sovereignty. It proved rather a "settler," for Humph's never opened his mouth again:

"If the people of the Territories do not want slavery, they can declare by law for its protection, and that would be just as effective as law passed to exclude it. Losers were privileged to be gentlemen, and he congratulated the country that Kentucky had placed herself in a correct position, by giving her electoral vote to the candidate of the Democracy. Let the gentleman (Marshall) from that Commonwealth take this home with him. There is a difference of opinion among Democrats as to Squatter Sovereignty, and let him make the most of it."

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.—We have seen many reports from the officers of this company, giving the progress of the work, but none in which Nashville was interested. The sole idea with them seems to be, how long before the entire trade of Southern Kentucky, bordering upon Tennessee, can be secured and carried by Louisville from the competition of that end of the road as far as Bowling Green. The President in a recent report says:

"I think I can safely give assurance that by the creation of a fund equal to about $200,000, to be relied on with certainty for vigorous operations on Muldrow's Bill, the grade will be completed for a continuous track from Louisville to Green River by, if not before, the 1st day of January, 1891."

This is all very well for Louisville, but as Nashville is a party to the enterprise, we would be glad to learn the progress of the work, of getting this end of the road completed to somewhere. The large and profitable trade from the southern portion of Kentucky, with proper rail facilities, would naturally come to Nashville. Louisville is a gentleman who, on account of his slavery to vindicate the freedom of the press whenever it is assailed in his person, has unjustly been reported as a duelist. No case is more proper in the eyes of the Louisville relations of life, or more slow to wound the feelings of his fellow-man, than Mr. Pryor, but his fearlessness as a writer and as a champion of Democratic principles induced party passions to assail him, and fighting men to endeavor to bully him; but they mistook their game, and found in Mr. Pryor a man upon any field worthy of a better deed. Mr. Pryor is an ornament to the press, which the Louisville has just cause to be proud. No writer in the South wields a greater influence with his pen in directing public sentiment than he does."

Mr. Pryor, the distinguished editor of the New York Daily News, in noticing some of the distinguished gentlemen lately on a visit to Washington, pays the following handsome compliment to Mr. Pryor, of the Richmond Enquirer:

"Roger A. Pryor, the distinguished editor of the Richmond Enquirer, is at present in this city. Mr. Pryor is a gentleman who, on account of his slavery to vindicate the freedom of the press whenever it is assailed in his person, has unjustly been reported as a duelist. No case is more proper in the eyes of the Louisville relations of life, or more slow to wound the feelings of his fellow-man, than Mr. Pryor, but his fearlessness as a writer and as a champion of Democratic principles induced party passions to assail him, and fighting men to endeavor to bully him; but they mistook their game, and found in Mr. Pryor a man upon any field worthy of a better deed. Mr. Pryor is an ornament to the press, which the Louisville has just cause to be proud. No writer in the South wields a greater influence with his pen in directing public sentiment than he does."

CITY COURT.

Friday, Dec. 19.

Eliza D. Lawrence, shooting at Rolf F. Baird with intent to kill. Bail of Lawrence in $1,500 to answer, which was given.

Lawrence was liberated last evening, on giving bail, but as soon as it was ascertained that Baird was wounded, he was re-arrested.

City vs. Mary Boling, ordinance warrant. Continued.

City vs. James Cotton, ordinance warrant. Dismissed.

Henry Carpenter, Dennis Means, and Charles Means, drunk. Discharged.

Ben Farahy was arrested by Officer Powell for attempting to pass a counterfeit $5.00 note. He was released on $100 bail.

Good News! Good News!—Coal at one cent per bush! Who will take a load at this price? We suppose a large number of purchasers of coal could be found at these prices, but not so many as there are for Porter's Oriental Life Liniment.

Over five thousand bottles of it have been sold at retail in the last month, at the principal depot, 93 Third street, where only genuine Oriental Life Liniment can be had. It has been used with success in 200 cases of frost bites during the present winter. The Oriental Life Liniment is sold at twenty-five cents per bottle, and each purchaser receives a gift from ten cents to twenty-five dollars. Among the articles intended for gifts are twenty-five loads of coal; also, an assortment of jewelry, consisting of silver watches, gold pins and earrings, gold pens and pencils, fancy work-boxes, double barrel shot guns, books, toys, perfumery, &c. Now is the time to get Christmas presents cheap. Remember the place, 93 Third street, near the Post Office.

THEATRE.—Notwithstanding the foreboding aspect of the weather last night, there was a large audience at the Theatre on the occasion of the benefit of Miss Jace—an evidence of the high esteem with which she is regarded by the Louisville public, and that which no higher appreciation of the meritoriously deserved by her can be given.

The enconiums showered upon Miss Jace heretofore by the press and the lovers of the drama, were never more worthily bestowed, and we predict for her a series of triumphs wherever she may appear.

To-night is her last appearance, and the weather permitting, we bespeak for her a crowded house. She appears as Madame in the "Hells of the Faubourg," and as Juliana in the "Honey Moon."

At 8:30—$300,000 WORTH OF FANCY AND FINE DRY GOODS.—We would invite special attention to the advertisement of the firm of Miller & Tabb, corner of Fourth and Market streets, who will offer from date their entire stock of fancy and staple dry goods.

They are induced to do this in order to reduce their stock by the 1st of January, at which time one of the members of the firm will withdraw from the concerns. This is an old house and favorably known.

They have a large and attractive stock, and we would advise all those in search of great bargains and good goods, to avail themselves of the present opportunity.

From the report of testimony in favor of Kennedy's Medical Discovery it must certainly be the most valuable discovery in all diseases of the blood and skin, also for Dyspepsia and Liver Diseases. Unlike other alternatives it is to be taken but once a day. Raymond & Patton are agents, at 74, Fourth Street.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has turned his attention to the study of the human system, and has discovered the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country. The reputation his medicine has acquired, the certainty of cure whenever it is used, in cases of all kinds, all the necessity of playing particular attention to this subject. These medicines are sold by Stewart, Miller & Co., Louisville, Ky.; Hoover, Riley & Ruddle, Cincinnati, Ohio; J. N. Harris & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

In Padlock's Book of Plates and Illustrations, Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

Dr. S. A. Weaver has given a full and complete description of the human system, and has shown the cause of many diseases, and has found the most certain and speedy cure ever offered in this country.

T. TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.

SENATE.—Mr. Wilson, having the floor, proceeded to speak on the political questions of the day.

He commenced by quoting the remarks of Daniel Webster in his eulogy of the ordinance of 1787, to the effect that those who passed that measure were deserving of more honor than soldiers and statesmen.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

T. TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.

SENATE.—Mr. Wilson, having the floor, proceeded to speak on the political questions of the day.

He commenced by quoting the remarks of Daniel Webster in his eulogy of the ordinance of 1787, to the effect that those who passed that measure were deserving of more honor than soldiers and statesmen.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to read a long and elaborate tribute to the great work of the old Congress of confederation brought up on him and his section of the Union the charge of making an expedition against the South and interfering with her domestic institutions as to endanger the relation which exists between the master and the slave.

